Watching the sun rise after the rain, sun rays glowing over the paddocks and through the fields, casting long dark shadows from this beautifully shaped tree, reminds me how lucky we are to live in a land with so much space and freedom.

The windmill and wonky old farm fence that makes our farmland so uniquely Australian, reminds me of childhood memories in a time where life was so much more simple.

This still exists but to stop and take it in, is a choice.

The tree is weathered and shaped by the wind, lasting through dry summers and wild winters, yet still stands tall, mighty and beautiful.

A reminder to us all we can still be who we are no matter what life throws at you.

Stand tall and be proud of who you are. That's where beauty lies.
