Title: Please Stay

GPS: -31.962770,115.787730

I've been walking past a beautiful tall Eucalyptus tree before I enter the building where I work for approximately fifteen years. I love seeing this tall strong tree change throughout the seasons... when it sheds its bark, bearing its silky new skin, when the colours appear on the trunk especially after it rains and the way the light changes on its branches depending on the time of day.

"Please Stay" is my way of honouring this tree and all the other beautiful trees on the site where I work.

What will happen to them when the developers come in? What will happen to all these beautiful trees?
